

Role of Universities in achieving Net Zero: Three remarks from a French Perspective

Labos 1point5: A collective to support mitigation from research activities

- A bottom-up initiative supported by research institutions and universities
- Provides data, GHG calculation tools, forum (English and French, labos1point5.org)

Mitigation motivates researchers, notably (but not only!) young ones

- High sensitivity of climate risk, both positive and negative (eco-anxiety)
- Translates into strong call for action, both individual (travel) and collective

An unanswered question: What is international research in a net-zero world?

- Use of energy-intensive equipment
- Tension between reducing international travel and creating international networks